

The Sage Colleges

THE CENTER FOR TEACHING & LEARNING

Peter J. Stapleton, PhD
Director

Vision Statement

The Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) promotes excellence in teaching and enhanced student learning, cultivates learning communities, and supports the scholarship of teaching and learning among faculty.

Featured Tip of the Month – November

One Sentence Lesson Plan by Norm Eng

Template for the One Sentence Lesson Plan

In this class, students will be able to [accomplish Outcome X] by [using Method Y], so that [they will be helped in Z way].

Read more here:

One Sentence Lesson Plan

When: Wednesday, November 28th, 4:30pm – 5:30pm

Where: Albany Campus, KCC 224

TOPIC: Getting Ready for the Spring Semester

Moodle Tips/Engaging the Online Learner

Unable to attend this event in person?

Copy and paste this link into your web-browser for the November 28th CTL Event (Google Hangout = Video Chat)

<https://meet.google.com/pno-kqvg-fwr>

Participants attending will:

1. Import their Moodle courses into Spring 2019 courses. (bring your laptop or device with you).
2. Develop a vocabulary around best practices for engaging online learners through Moodle.

Upcoming CTL Events:

Faculty Training on Helping Students in Distress (try to attend one):

November 7th 11am – 12:15pm (KCC 347)

November 14th 12pm – 1:30pm (Shea 201)

Spring 2019 dates, times, and topics, TBA

May College – TBA

Peer-Observation

Don't forget to have your peer-observation completed during the academic year.

Student Learning Outcomes

What will your students learn in your course? How do you measure these outcomes?

Academic Year 2018/2019 Goals

Develop a professional learning community around the importance of teaching and learning through discussion of best practices and research.

Support Faculty at all levels in experimenting and discovering a variety of teaching methods for today's higher education.

Promote the scholarship of teaching and learning.