

The Sage Colleges

THE CENTER FOR TEACHING & LEARNING

Peter J. Stapleton, PhD
Director

Vision Statement

The Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) promotes excellence in teaching and enhanced student learning, cultivates learning communities, and supports the scholarship of teaching and learning among faculty.

Featured Tip of the Month - October

Stop, Jot, and Share by Norm Eng

"Stop-jot-share gets students to retain content more effectively. And it's so simple, you can use it tomorrow. Here's how it works in five steps.

1. Lecture for 10-15 minutes.
2. Then stop.
3. Ask students to jot down everything they remember.
4. Have them share with a partner to fill in any gaps.
5. Correct any misconceptions where necessary.

Stop. Jot. Share. Total time: no more than 5-7 minutes. Rinse. Repeat."

Read more here: Stop, Jot, and Share

NEXT EVENT CTL Event #3

When: Wednesday, October 31st, 10am – 11:30am

Where: Troy Campus, SHEA 201

TOPIC: Active Learning

- Importance, Uses, Techniques/Tips
- Teaching @Sage

Unable to attend this event in person?

Copy and paste this link into your web-browser for the October 31st CTL Event (Google Hangout = Video Chat)

<https://meet.google.com/onk-mgfy-aew>

Participants attending will:

1. explain Rowe's 10:2 Theory and how to implement effectively in higher education classrooms.
2. develop an understanding of what active learning is and how and when it can be applied to both large and small classes across disciplines.
3. select one active learning strategy to try this semester in their teaching.

Upcoming CTL Events:

November 28th: 4:30pm – 5:30pm – Albany – KCC224

Topic: Getting ready for Spring semester:

Engaging the Online Learner/Moodle Tips

Time Management Tip

Once a week, designate your time commuting to campus for professional development! Have you heard about the podcast Teaching in Higher Ed?

Try Episode 216: Research on Engaging Learners.

Academic Year 2018/2019 Goals

Develop a professional learning community around the importance of teaching and learning through discussion of best practices and research.

Support Faculty at all levels in experimenting and discovering a variety of teaching methods for today's higher education.

Promote the scholarship of teaching and learning.